

Announcing 2019 Travel Grants

The Wetland Foundation is soliciting applications for 2019 travel grants. We will accept applications from any student currently enrolled full-time at an academic institution in the USA and who meets the specific criteria for one of the types of grants listed below:

Conference Travel Grant Type 1 ($800): For advanced undergraduate and graduate students who have never attended a wetland scientific conference and who have limited funds for travel.

Conference Travel Grant Type 2 ($1400): For advanced undergraduate and graduate students with limited funding to present their wetland research findings at a conference.

Field Travel Grant Type 1 ($800): For outstanding graduate students with limited funding to defray field expenses associated with thesis or dissertation research on wetlands.

Field Travel Grant Type 2 ($600): For promising undergraduate students to defray costs of a field course focused on wetlands.

Seneca Award ($1600): For a student whose research focuses on wetland plant ecology or restoration. See website for details.

Deadline: December 18, 2018

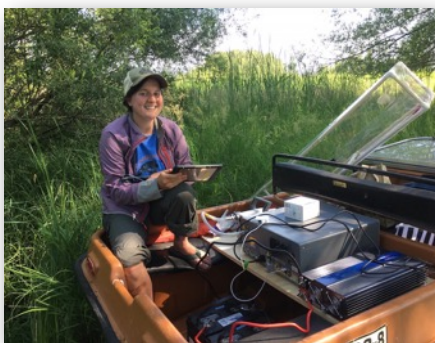

Mission

The Wetland Foundation is a non-profit organization devoted to fostering wetland education and research, particularly in coastal marshes and mangrove forests.

Our mission is to enhance wetland education and research primarily by supporting students of wetland science with limited resources by providing travel grants to attend conferences, field courses, and to conduct field research.
